

JCHA Housing and Development Corp. Holds Groundbreaking for Renovation of Spring Gardens Senior Housing, Near Tarrant

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – Senior residents of the Spring Gardens apartments near Tarrant will soon have the latest in safety, energy-efficiency and accessibility with brand-new units that raise the level of affordable living in Jefferson County.

The JCHA Housing and Development Corp., along with the Jefferson County Housing Authority, held a groundbreaking ceremony Thursday to mark the redevelopment. Participants included Jane Bailey, president of the JCHA Housing and Development Corp. board; Ken Vaughan, executive director of the JCHA; representatives of the architectural and construction companies working on the renovations; U.S. Housing and Urban Development officials; and Spring Garden residents.

“This is a community where our residents can take pleasure living there, and we look forward to seeing them enjoy their improved accommodations and all else the community has to offer,” Bailey added. “Our board is dedicated to making Spring Gardens one of best affordable senior housing developments anywhere. Our residents deserve it.”
